

Supporting Teaching and Learning

What is an Apprenticeship?

An Apprenticeship is a mix of real work and learning. Apprentices earn a wage and gain experience whilst working towards a number of qualifications. An Apprenticeship follows a Level 2 programme and can lead onto an Advanced Apprenticeship which is a Level 3 programme.

Overview

This Apprenticeship is about providing support in the classroom. Learning support staff; such as teaching assistants or cover supervisors play a vital role in today's classrooms by making sure students get the most out of their lessons. They work with teachers, carry out duties like lesson preparation, and work with small groups or individuals, allowing the teacher to concentrate on teaching the class. Some learning support staff specialise in areas like music or support for learners with additional needs.

Learning support staff numbers have been rising steadily over the past few years and indications are that they will continue to do so in the future.

Increasing workforce numbers together with the age profile of the current workforce means there will be an ongoing demand for learning support staff in schools.

Starting salary (once qualified) ranges from £12,000 to £17,000
